

Are all digital collections of the partner archives available via the EFG?

Portal

The European Film Gateway is a showcase for the digital collections of European film archives. The objects you find on the EFG are part of the growing stock of archival material, Europe's film archives have been digitising over the past years. However, the material on the EFG represents only a small percentage of the analogue collections held by the archives. Due to copyright issues not all material held by archives can be made accessible via the EFG. Find an overview on what is available on the EFG here.